Layer: Mordthal

The Mordthal, once a stone-age hunter's settlement, is located in Ruppersthal at 290m above sea level. The loess soil with a high lime part is planted with Pinot Noir and Zweigelt, together with 50 year old vines of Grüner Veltliner.

Alignment: South-West

Planting year: 1999

Soil: Deep loess soil with lime and clay

Microclimate: warm to hot

Vinification: Aged 1 ½ years in used and new 500l wooden barrels on the fine yeast

Tasting notes: Chimney red hue, elegant, with fine spice, and fresh berry aromas; remarkable finesse and excellent storage potential, bottled under cork and hand waxed

Food accompaniment: Ideal for game birds for all kinds such as duck, wild goose, quail, partridge and pheasant, even venison fits perfectly
